

Somewhere like the Dump Drive or a Provider file folder are the usual places

The program will pick up on how many files there are and display some basic information about them including any warnings or errors found.

There are 2 options at this point for saving the files in the same folder you started with or a copy placed in a specified folder of your choice that is converted.